SUBJECT: Private Instruction

RESOLUTION: NSBA urges state legislatures and state education governance bodies to adopt standards for private instruction, including home schools, which ensure that each child receives an education equivalent to that provided in public schools.

RATIONALE:

- There is a movement in several states to provide exceptions to compulsory education laws in order to allow parents to teach their children at home.
- It is in the interest of both the children and society as a whole to provide safeguards to assure that each of these children receive an appropriate and adequate education both quantitatively and qualitatively.
