Limited Time Offer

The Technology Leadership Network (TLN) is offering a limited time opportunity for individuals to participate in the TLN program. An employee or school board member of a school district can participate as an individual for $190 a year. A consultant, an individual that works in the education field but does not provide a product, can participate at the rate of $300 a year. Individual participants receive a subset of the benefits school districts that pay the organizational rate receive. A chart on the back of this form details the differences in benefit offerings.
